

JODIEJOY MUSIC

ALBUM REVIEWS

'J-J' EP – Marc Swersky US Grammy Award Winning Producer

“Released independently in 2015, this young woman has carved her own path, her music is steeped in soul and commercial radio format.” (Marc Swersky Producer)

Fans of independent music and singers like Tina Arena, Adele and Annie Lennox will appreciate the beauty and passion of JJ's voice. This album is full of words and music coming from a woman/artist at peace with one self. A confessional of a woman who's seen and been through much. Willing to take a chance and forge through musical landscapes and say, 'I'm proud and I'm indie. '

'I Still Believe' – Media Search Article

Jodie is a new discovery for me, but, when reading a little of her background, the Queensland singer--songwriter has covered quite a bit of musical territory. She has had extensive music and dance experience in popular and classical music and it resonates well to what this 11--track album signifies. She expresses herself powerfully and poignantly and puts herself out there as a real entertainer. Unusual to think she is working independently but she puts much into her efforts and I understand her live shows are something to enjoy greatly. With appealing looks and being able to display a sweet and controlled presence through the set of mostly melodic ballads, Jodie has much to look forward to.

Reviewer: Carmine Pascuzzi – Mediasearch

Email Management: info@jodiejoy.com.au